Lavish Preparations For Glorious Fourth

Natal Celebration Is to Grandest in City's History

The joint meeting of the Industrial Commission, Commercial Club and Chamber of Commerce held at Martin's Grill Wednesday noon, was a successful meeting from point of attendance as well as the enthusiasm manifested by those present.

There were 56 places occupied at the luncheon board, and the flow of oratory was at ebb tide, the highway and Fourth of July celebrations being the principal subjects for discussion.

H. A. Stiver, acting chairman, did the honors in professional style and overlooked none when calling for opinions and short speeches.

Charles S. Kenwick, chairman of the highway committee, told how the program would be carried out, stating that there would be no noise—it would be a quiet Sunday celebration.

All the speakers reported co-operation in making the highway and July Fourth celebrations the best ever staged by Richmond.

A collection taken up by Mrs. Clara Wilson for the summer camp at Mt. Diablo for the benefit of under-nourished children, exceeded one hundred dollars.

LIQUID FUEL IN INDUSTRY

Experiments Made in England Seem to Have Demonstrated That It Has Great Value.

For a long time liquid fuel was employed only for steam production, but an indication of the wide application that it may have in many forms of industry is afforded by the experience of the owners of a large glass manufactory at South Hackney, in England.

The experiments there were begun more than ten years ago and after overcoming many difficulties a special form of burner was evolved which appears to be entirely satisfactory. Four to five thousand gallons of oil are burned every week with perfect combustion and a total absence of smoke, and the temperature obtained ranges from that of a baker's oven to that required for melting crucible steel.—New York Herald.

MOST SENSITIVE OF MOTORS

Machine So Delicate That It Is Affected by Even the Slightest Shift of Light.

Among the most curious motors ever invented is one devised by A. R. Bennett and intended for delicate experiments in heat measurement. It is so sensitive that it begins to revolve the moment it is exposed to daylight, even when the sun is hidden, and in clear weather it will work all night, affected even by the radiant heat of moonlight. The motive power is due to convection currents set up inside the glass shade with which the instrument is covered. While the glass is not warmed by the radiant heat of daylight or moonlight passing through it, the metal surfaces of the motor are, and the minute differences of temperature thus produced suffice to start convection currents.—New York Herald.

Postal Employees Are 95 Per Cent Perfect

Washington, June 21.—Whenever you complain about the mistakes of the postoffice department ask yourself if you are 95 per cent perfect in your work. The minimum efficiency demanded of those who handle the mails is 96 per cent. The average accuracy of the vast majority of postal employees, however, is very much above the minimum. Quite recently, for example, the Newark, New Jersey, postoffice made ten mistakes in handling 1,000,000 pieces of mail. Newark postal employees handle on an average of 800,000 pieces of mail a day. It is not believed that any organization in the United States can show as high a record for accuracy of work performed as the postoffice department.

Sunday Celebration to Be Noiseless Affair

P. G. & E. Employees Hold 7th Annual Banquet

Three thousand places were occupied by the employees of the Pacific Gas & Electric Co. at the 7th annual banquet given in Oakland Auditorium Saturday night. It was the Pacific Service Employees association, included members from as far south as Fresno county and north as far as Shasta.

The dinner was served by 250 employees of the eastbay district in the big banquet hall, and was considered the climax of all previous "feasts" for the quality, quantity, service and goodfellowship, to say nothing of the entrancing music and artistic decorations.

Following the big dinner, all retired to the theatre where the employees presented a musical comedy with a "Mother Goose Travesty" as its central theme. It was a high class entertainment, a number of the performers showing professional ability as entertainers, especially the "boys" from Modesto.

Vice-President John A. Britton entered into the spirit of the occasion, delivering one of his characteristic speeches in which he never fails to praise the spirit of service exemplified by the association's members—the spirit of co-operation.

President W. E. Creed followed with the principal address of the evening, and in closing presented diplomas to 202 graduates of the educational classes.

President J. S. Worthington of the employees' association was complimented by all for his successful management of the affair which even to the smallest details worked out smoothly and to the great enjoyment of all.

Following the theatre program dancing ended the seventh annual banquet, the gay revelers marking time to the sweet strains of "Home, Sweet Home," by Sapiro's band.

LITTLE TERMINALS

The Fourth centers the week—Wednesday.

Will it be a noisy one—or one of those sane ones?

Many rigs and pedestrians have learned to do without the subway.

That may prove it was not a necessity—it was just a "habit."

Once the excuse was that the jitneys had "shot" the traction company's business, and the latter was unable to finance extensions and develop new residential districts. North Richmond is waiting for that long expected extension of the Sixth street line.

What has become of that old-time mother who sharpened the butcherknife on the stovepipe?

It seems that the seismic disturbances are not all confined to Italy. Is rumored slight shocks are being felt in the vicinity of Richmond's city hall.

FOOD SUPPLY CUT OFF

BEGIN A STARVATION DRIVE IN RUHR AREA

FRANCE HOPES TO FORCE TERMS BY BLOCKADE

The whole of occupied area now severed from rest of nation—Unrest grows and Reds hold menace over Berlin.

Basen.—The latest move of the forces of occupation to break the passive resistance of the Germans is the taking over of the railroad stations of Dortmund, Bochum, Essen, Gelsenkirchen and other industrial towns. The whole occupied area is now severed from the rest of Germany.

The French control absolutely all the railroad lines leading into and through the Ruhr by which the Germans had been bringing in food supplies from unoccupied Germany. The food situation is critical, the French having thus blocked the last source of food shipments.

These food shipments to the Ruhr had been from five hundred to six hundred carloads daily.

When the remaining lines were taken over, the German railroad men quit work as a part of their passive resistance program. Owing to the seizure of the lines, according to the French authorities, the Germans now will have to come to terms with the French to allow the necessary food supplies to reach the inhabitants of the Ruhr.

The Germans claim French guards have refused the Germans permission to enter the Dortmund station and take charge of French milk destined to hospitals and the children. The French deny this, saying that the railroad men all quit work when the troops arrived, and that they have not tried to come back to work since.

The X-1 is said to carry a 13.5-inch rifle and has a cruising radius of about 6,000 miles. It is propelled by electricity when submerged and by steam on the surface.

This battleship of the sub-surface will cost about $4,000,000 when completed and is capable of operating with the battle fleet on the surface or submerged, and also of operating alone over a wide area and away from her base.

FUGITIVES TELL STORY OF WAR PREPARATIONS

Peasant Army Almost Wiped Out By Revolutionaries In Sofia Defense—70,000 Soldiers Massed, Says Greek Advice.

Athens.—The Balkan volcano is again threatening eruption as a result of the Bulgarian overthrow. Fugitives to the Thracian frontier declare that the Sofia uprising that overturned the Stamboulinsky government, was distinctly militaristic.

While the Bulgarian legation at London formally denied the new revolutionary government is militaristic, press advices from various Balkan centers reported the Bulgarian government taking warlike measures.

According to dispatches from Athens, Greek officials claim the Sofia government has concentrated 70,000 troops. It is reported that hundreds of bands of Bulgarian irregulars have cast their lot with the government against the peasant "orange guard."

The Sofia correspondent to the London Times reported severe fighting in which the casualties were heavy. Revolutionary leaders believe they will have little difficulty in putting down counter revolution, now that former Premier Alexander Stamboulin, the peasant leader, is dead.

Peasant bands, carrying flags of truce, were alleged to have fired upon revolutionary troops. The latter returned the fire. In some instances the peasant forces were almost annihilated.

Armed peasant detachments, trying to approach Sofia, caused King Boris to maintain a state of preparations for hasty flight.

Bulgarian irregulars (comitads) are becoming active on the Thracian frontier. Athens reports that two Greek gendarmes were killed by Bulgarians near the western border of Thrace, the bodies being mutilated.

Diplomatic circles are anxious over the entire Balkan situation. While Premier Zankov has promised demobilization of the Bulgarian troops the reported success of the peasants make this step impossible.

The little entente—Jugoslavia, Roumania and Czechoslovakia—is threatening to intervene unless immediate steps are taken for demobilization.

Macedonians have organized a nationalist movement, demanding Macedonian autonomy. Any attempt to set up an independent republic in Macedonia would be sure to lead to international difficulties.

State Capital Letter

Sacramento.—Governor Richardson has signed Senate Bill 444, which allows the state board of education all teachers' credential fees, thus increasing the school budget for the biennium by approximately $40,000. The new law sponsored by Senator M. B. Johnson of San Mateo county, grants to the educational department all moneys collected from applicants for teachers' certificates. California applicants must pay $3; those from other states are taxed $5. Governor Richardson made no comment on the bill, but state officials are of the opinion his action will have a decided effect on administration budget efforts to transfer other departmental revenues to the general fund.

The elimination by 1920 of all private schools in California taught entirely in any foreign language, will not be effected by the recent decision of the United States supreme court is an informal opinion given by the attorney-general's office. The supreme court's decision, it is held, strikes only at laws which prohibit the teaching of a foreign language. The inman measure makes it unlawful to conduct an educational institution wholly in any other foreign language.

The Duval motor vehicle bill, which fixes a 4 per cent tax on gross receipts of motor trucks, automobile receipts and bus lines, and which is to bring annual revenues ranging from $890,000 to $1,000,000 into the treasury, was given executive approval. Income derived will be divided equally between the state and the various counties and must be expended in repair and maintenance of highways.

Constitutionality of the California inheritance tax law and the respective taxation rights of the state and federal governments on large estates will be placed before the United States supreme court for determination, following a request by heirs of the late Mrs. Henrietta Pierce Watkinson for a rehearing before the state supreme court, which recently ordered them to pay $28,206 to the state.

Employment of secret operatives by municipal or county police operatives in prohibition enforcement and other cases of similar nature is illegal under the state law, unless the operative is a licensed private detective. This opinion, was issued by Attorney General Webb as a result of a controversy in Fresno, where an unlicensed operative was recently used in liquor cases.

That the activities in connection with California's promotion of its agricultural industry will be cared for more amply under the state budget than was thought, was stated by James Mills, chairman of the state agricultural council board, following conferences held by the board with Governor Richardson and the board of control.

Convicts employed on state road work are to receive a daily wage of $2.50 a day, from which the convict shall pay a nominal amount for board, food and clothing, under a bill by Assemblyman Schmidt. The surplus wage money will be credited to the convict and when his term expires he will get the accumulated wage.

Under the bill United States treasury notes may now be accepted as legal securities for state bonds and may be listed for this purpose with other prescribed securities.

TIP ON CONVICT LEADS TO PARDON

Bride Makes Successful Plea to Governor of Iowa for Young Husband.

HAS GOOD WAR RECORD

Shenandoah, Ia.—Someone who secretly tipped off the authorities that Clifford Solon, twenty-four, a bridegroom of four months, had a ten-year penitentiary sentence hanging over him, has all unintended, done Solon a great favor.

Investigation by Iowa officials to learn if Solon, an overseas veteran with a clean war record, had broken the parole granted him two years ago when the ten-year sentence was imposed upon him, disclosed that he had gone straight since his one slip, a minor part played in a gang's robbery of a store at Riverton, in Page county, Iowa.

Bride Starts Fight. But the inquiry did more. It gave Solon's young bride an opportunity to launch a vigorous fight for his full pardon. She gave up a bank position she held in Omaha, in which city her husband was also working when the unfriendly "tip-off" came, and succeeded in interesting a former Iowa state senator and other influential citizens of Page county in the case.

The bride of four months pleaded with the governor that Solon had, but one bad mark against him, that his war record was one of honor, that he had held several positions faithfully and honestly since his parole, and that he had played fair with her, in telling her fully, before their marriage, of the stain upon him.

Is Given Pardon. The result was that Governor Kendall signed an unconditional pardon for young Solon, and the Omaha firm for which he worked is said to have informed him that his former job is his for the asking. The Solons have been busy thanking their friends for the assistance given them but so far have been unable to assure themselves definitely of the identity of the person who started all the action in their favor by sending the maliciously intended tip to the authorities.

COURTSHIP LASTS 46 YEARS

Half-Century Romance Culminates in the Wedding of Blind Couple in Missouri.

Columbia, Mo.—Both totally blind, and after a courtship lasting almost half a century, J. R. Sapps, seventy years old, and Mary Smith, sixty-nine, were married here.

"And is this Mary?" asked Sapp when Miss Smith journeyed from her home in Coffee, Mo., to the native town of her husband-to-be. "Yes," replied the bride. "Then take my arm and we will go into the house," he said. The ceremony was then performed.

Both were students in their younger days at a school for the blind in St. Louis. Since leaving school, 64 years ago, they had corresponded regularly. Recently Miss Smith consented to the marriage.

OAKLAND WOMAN GAINS 15 POUNDS

Tanlac Was a Friend in Need for Her, Declares Mrs. Burbank.

"Tanlac was certainly a friend in need in my case and I can't say too much for it," is the grateful statement of Mrs. Margaret Burbank, of 10084 Pearlmain St., Oakland, Calif.

"If a person was ever in a badly run-down condition I was that person, for my strength was gone, I felt exhausted all the time, and it was all I could do to stay on my feet a little while. I had absolutely no appetite, and even the little I did manage to force myself to eat never seemed to furnish me with the slightest increase in strength."

"I would get up in the morning with such a fearful pain in my back that I could hardly get my housework done, and splitting headaches were one of the dreadful things I had to contend with. I was just getting worse day by day and I don't think I could have kept going much longer if it hadn't been for the Tanlac treatment."

"I began to feel better on my very first bottle of Tanlac. Pretty soon I could eat and relish most anything, and my weight went up fifteen pounds. The headaches and backaches never bother me now. I have got back all my strength, and have felt fine ever since I took Tanlac. Tanlac is simply grand."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Esperanto Recognized. Esperanto is recognized as a living tongue by the United States hydrographic office. It is one of the languages in which the directions are printed on "bottle papers" which are given mariners to be cast overboard at sea in order to observe the direction and strength of ocean currents. The bottles are picked up by people of all nationalities, and the directions for the return of the papers are therefore printed in eight languages, one of which is likely to be spoken or understood by any civilized dweller along the seven seas. The languages are English, French, German, Dutch, Italian, Spanish, Portuguese and Esperanto.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited to those who are in need of it. A prominent druggist says, "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by parcel post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Advertisement.

Much Soil Unsurveyed

Slightly more than one-third of the United States has been surveyed by the bureau of soils of the United States Department of Agriculture. A little more than half of this area has been covered by detailed surveys showing the extent and distribution of the various soils by types; the rest has been covered by reconnaissance maps showing the soils in larger groups. There are in some of the western states large areas of mountainous lands and deserts, where there is no immediate prospect of irrigation, or of grazing, and for which there will likely be no need of soil surveys.

Frank and Open

Senator Lorimer said in a tariff argument in Milwaukee:

"The frank and open way the government of the world are running one another's foreign trade by means of tariff barriers reminds me of old Doc Bolus."

"Doc," said Farmer Cornelius Husk, "I'm plum sorry to drag you so far out into the henry on such a cold, wet night."

"Oh, that's all right, Corn," said old Doc Bolus, "Your neighbor, Deacon Wesley Luther, is allus' too, so I kin kill two birds with one stone."

BACK ACHY?

Lame and aching in the morning? Tortured with backaches all day long? No wonder you feel worn out and discouraged! But have you given any thought to your kidneys? Weak kidneys cause just such troubles, and you are likely to have headaches, too, with dizziness, stinging pains and bladder irregularities. Don't risk neglect. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

A California Case

Frank Frost, 220 B St., Porterville, Calif., never suffered from lame back and kidney trouble. I had pains through my kidneys and the excruciating pains often were unbearable. I had a terrible pain in the back of my head. One day Doan's Kidney Pills knocked the pain out of my back and head, and my kidneys in a healthy condition.

BRINGING PLAY UP TO DATE

Japanese Version of the Play of "Othello" Introduces All Things, a Photograph.

We are always indignant—and rightly so—when alterations are made in the great works of fiction in order to adapt them to the screen—a species of vandalism which should be prohibited by law.

In Japan the vandals—if we may call them—do not confine their operations to productions for the screen; the stage, too, suffers at their hands.

Recently Shakespeare's "Othello" was subjected to the most awe-inspiring transformation for presentation on the Tokyo stage. Othello himself became the military governor of Formosa and Desdemona appeared as the daughter of the minister of finance who wished to marry her off to a Jewish banker.

The unhappy young woman, crossed in love, hanged her fate from dawn till dark, her sole consolation, according to this Japanese version, being the music of her phonograph.—Kansas City Star.

Hard Lying

Some members of the British navy get extra pay for "hard lying." This has nothing to do with spying or other intelligence work or conducting visitors over the fleet or writing reports, as might be surmised. It refers to the difficulty of sleeping in a nasty little torpedo boat or smaller craft which has not space enough to swing a comfortable hammock. The men had to sleep on hard decks and compensation was awarded in addition to ordinary pay. In future all engaged in submarine work are to have an additional allowance, according to a recent admiralty order.

THE SANDMAN STORY

THE BIRDS' REVENGE

MR. AND MRS. WOODPECKER had finished their home and had four eggs resting on the soft sawdust inside when one morning they heard some one at the door.

Mr. Woodpecker flew to open it, and who was it but Mr. Squirrel asking if the house was for rent.

"The very idea," said Mrs. Woodpecker, when her husband told her what Mr. Squirrel had asked; "we knew perfectly well that we were living here. What he wanted to find out was if we were at home and if we were not he would have come right in and taken possession."

"I gave him a good sharp peck," said Mr. Woodpecker, "and he knew his home now and that possession proved it.

Mrs. Woodpecker flew away to find her husband, but he met with no better success. For Mr. Squirrel told him the same thing he had told his wife and drove them away.

But the Woodpeckers knew that Mr. Squirrel would not stay in the house all the time so they patiently waited for revenge.

It was not until the next day that Mr. Squirrel ventured far from the new home. Then he came to the door and took a look all around, but he did not see the Woodpeckers, who were flattened against the tree far over his head.

Mr. Squirrel had been busy storing away food and while the Woodpeckers knew they would never be comfortable again in their home they determined that, bad Mr. Squirrel should not live in comfort there either, and as soon as they had watched him running down the path they flew over to Reddy Squirrel's and told him about the food in the hollow of the tree which had once been his home.

Now Reddy Squirrel liked nothing better than to find a store of food, which Mr. Gray Squirrel had hidden. When he heard the news he did not even stop to thank the Woodpeckers, for Reddy is not a very polite creature. Off he scampered.

It was late in the day when Mr. Squirrel returned to his new home, and when he discovered he had been robbed he ran to the door of his home and chattered angrily.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodpecker knew that they were revenged, but before they flew away from the limb where they sat watching, Mr. Woodpecker said, "Reddy Squirrel called white you were out, Mr. Squirrel, and we told him to go right in and make himself at home."

"Who Was It, but Mr. Squirrel!"

I was at home and on guard. He won't come back. I think we are quite safe, my dear."

But Mr. Woodpecker was wrong, for Mr. Squirrel had his mind set upon that very house for home and he intended to live in it, so he ran up to a place where he could watch unseen by the Woodpeckers and waited.

By and by Mr. Woodpecker flew away and after a while Mrs. Woodpecker came out and off she went. Mr. Squirrel knew that she would quickly return and he must not lose time, and he didn't, for he was in her home before Mrs. Woodpecker was out of sight of the tree.

Then that wicked Mr. Squirrel ate the four eggs for his breakfast and when poor Mrs. Woodpecker returned home he met her at the door like an angry cat, chattering that this was his home now and that possession proved it.

Mrs. Woodpecker flew away to find her husband, but he met with no better success. For Mr. Squirrel told him the same thing he had told his wife and drove them away.

We know that was the way you did when folks were not at home."

Mr. Squirrel watched the Woodpeckers fly out of sight and then he ran down the tree and away from that part of the wood to look for a new home, for he knew it was no use living there now that Reddy Squirrel had discovered his storehouse.

"I wonder if they told him," thought Mr. Squirrel. "I guess I won't let any bird know where I make my home this time. Little birds are always telling things you don't want known."

YOUR HAND How to Read Your Characteristics and Tendencies—The Capabilities or Weaknesses That Make for Success or Failure as Shown in Your Palm

"SHALL I TRAVEL?"

IN SOME rare cases the line of travel (either horizontal or vertical, on the mount of the moon) runs into the line of the head, which is the lower of the two main lines crossing the palm horizontally. We may then foretell, or hold as indicated in the past, some danger to the head, or some other malady, arising from a journey. This is confirmed when the place of joining the two lines is marked by a spot, an island or a break.

When travel is indicated by the little hair lines that leave the line of life (encircling the thumb) and travel with it, the indication is similar to that shown by the line of life. If one branch of the divided line goes on its way around the mount of Venus, the ball of the thumb, while the other proceeds to the base of the mount of Luna, the subject will make a great change from his native land to another. When the line of life divides toward its end and there is a wide space between the branches the subject will most likely end his days in a country other than that which gave him birth.

MEN YOU MAY MARRY

By E. R. PEYSER

Has a galoot like this proposed to you?

Symptoms: "Mincing"; that's what the novellists call his gait. His dainty hands, flowers in his buttonhole—all is mincing. Sometimes a monocle flashes forth to enlarge his vision. Oh, he may seem dashing, but—You should see him fuss over his boiled egg mornings! In fact, the only thing that he doesn't fuss over, his family may, is ocean bathing, and some one heard him say once that the ocean wasn't "the same" enough.

IN FACT

Sameness is his middle name. Prescription to his bride: Buy an egg timer and Always boil his eggs the same way!

Demand much from him in work and play.

Absorb This: Responsibility means fussiness as soon as the snow.

Interest in subjects which are quite properly taboo in polite society.

Stop and ask yourself if you are of this number. It is really an indication that you are living a narrow, one-sided life, that you are losing your youthful attitude, and that your mental attitude is not as normal nor as wholesome as it should be. And when you permit yourself to verge on these subjects taboo you just increase this unwholesome, crabbed side of your nature.

And remember that in this country well-bred persons generally keep off topics of this sort. You will never queer yourself socially by keeping clear of them and there is much probability that you will spoil your chances for social success if you don't keep clear of them.

Odd Expression.

Sister Cora had just returned home from the hospital, where she had had her tonsils removed, and Betty asked mother for some money to buy some dimes for Cora. She got the money and hurried to the corner, purchasing a large bunch of sweet peas. Arriving home, she left the flowers in the hall, went to the writing desk, and found an old business card.

On the blank side she wrote: "To Cora from Betty. Happy sickiness."

The KITCHEN CABINET

A man is a gourmet as he is a poet or an artist or simply learned. Taste is a delicate organ, perfectable and worthy of respect like the eye and ear. To be wanting in the sense of taste is to be deprived of an exquisite faculty.—Guy de Maupassant.

GOOD THINGS FOR ANY DAY

As there is a diversity of tastes in almost every family, it is necessary that we have variety.

Smoked Salmon Charlotte.—Roll one and one-fourth cups of rice until tender, add two teaspoons of curry powder.

der creamed with two tablespoons of butter. Make a white sauce of butter, flour and milk, add the two and one-half cups of salmon that has been soaked in warm water to remove the excess of salt, add one tablespoonful of lemon juice, one-half teaspoonful of onion juice, and pepper. Line a buttered bread tin with the rice; pack in the fish mixture, put a layer of rice over the top and steam or bake in a pan of water thirty minutes. Serve with creamed peas.

Summer Soup.—Let stew one hour in a quart of water one generous quart of fresh tomatoes peeled and sliced thin, one cucumber and a clove of garlic. Add salt, one teaspoonful of pepper with one tablespoonful of sugar. Strain into the soupureen and set aside to cool. Add a few pieces of ice and one and one-half cups of finely sliced cucumbers sprinkled with salt and pepper and vinegar. Let chill in the refrigerator one hour. Just before serving toss into the soup one cupful of croutons which have been sprinkled with tarragon vinegar.

Raisin Pie.—Take one cupful of seeded raisins and stew in a cupful of water for five minutes; thicken with two tablespoons of rolled cracker crumbs. Remove from the fire and add one cupful of sugar, a tablespoonful of butter, the juice and grated rind of a lemon. Fill the pastry shell with the mixture and lay strips of pastry latticework across the top. Bake in a moderate oven.

Sponge Drops.—Beat the whites of three eggs until stiff, then add one-third of a cupful of powdered sugar, two egg yolks beaten thick and lemon colored, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt and one-third of a cupful of flour, flavor to taste. Drop by spoonfuls on baking sheet; sprinkle with powdered sugar before baking.

Pineapple Tapioca.—Cook until clear three tablespoonfuls of minute tapioca in two cups of water; add three tablespoonfuls of sugar. Serve with pineapple juice poured over the tapioca and a spoonful of diced pineapple for a garnish.

But words are things, and a small drop of ink falling like dew upon a thought produces that which makes thousands, perhaps millions, think.—Byron.

A VARIETY OF GOOD THINGS

A substantial and filling dish is a omelet prepared with mashed potato.

Take three cupfuls of hot mashed potato, three eggs, salt and pepper to taste and three tablespoonfuls of butter. Beat the eggs until light and stir in the mashed potato. Season to taste and beat until fluffy. In the meantime melt the butter and spread it over the potato mixture. Cook on the stove to brown, then place a moment in the oven.

Tutti-Frutti Cheese.—To one package of cream cheese add one-half cupful of sweet cream; chop six candied cherries, one canned apricot, a strip of citron, one dozen seeded raisins; mix with the cheese; add one teaspoonful each of mince, grated lemon peel and sugar, and a small piece of candied pineapple, chopped. Mold in a shallow pan and cut in squares to serve with buttered toast for afternoon tea.

Marshmallow Dessert.—Whip one cupful of heavy cream; add one-half cupful of finely-cut pineapple and a dozen marshmallows, cut into quarters. Chill and serve with a spoonful of maraschino cherries with syrup over each.

Sweet potatoes, French fried, are delicious; sprinkle with a little sugar and serve hot.

Macaroni Wafers.—Cream one-half cupful of butter; add one cupful of sugar gradually, the yolks of three eggs and the white of one, four tablespoonfuls of cold water, one teaspoonful of baking powder, two teaspoonfuls of vanilla and flour enough to roll. Place on ice to stiffen, and they may be rolled with little flour. To the other two whites add sugar and put a teaspoonful of frosting on each macaroni.

Pineapple Fluff.—Beat the whites of three eggs until stiff, add three tablespoonfuls of sugar and four tablespoonfuls of grated pineapple; mix together. Butter cups slightly, fill gently and set into hot water to bake a light brown. Turn out and serve with whipped cream; garnish with bits of preserved pineapple or with maraschino cherries.

OPUSSUM THOUGHTS

"I have had some thoughts," said the Opossum who was usually called Peter Possum.

Everyone thought it was easier to say "Possum" than to say Opossum, and Peter didn't object in the least.

"Yes," he continued, "I have had some thoughts. In the first place, I've heard that some animals changed their ways and improved themselves."

"They said that in the olden days the horse wasn't nearly such a fine-looking animal as he is now. He has improved himself. But they said that we hadn't changed so much. Yes, it was some one who knew all about such things as natural history and nature's ways who said that. And this person also said that lizards and crocodiles hadn't changed much, either. He said it was the kind who never changed and liked old-fashioned ways. Well, he was right. And I've been thinking."

"Was it great, great effort?" asked Mrs. Peter Possum, who had been listening.

"Not as much of an effort as you might imagine it to be," said Peter, who was not in the least offended by Mrs. Peter's remark.

He knew that it was nothing to be offended at, because she didn't mean it rudely and then, too, she didn't think it was anything to be so sure to have a lot of thoughts. She was hoping Mr. Possum hadn't really gone to any great effort about thinking.

"No," he said again, "it was not such an effort as you might think it would have been. I thought how foolish it would have been to have changed our ways. Here we have always been the same. Our way of protecting ourselves is excellent. We know how to pretend we're not alive when a person comes across us. I know that I have been lifted up and I have acted as though there was no life in my legs and that I couldn't stand."

"That is the way I have acted and that is the best way to act. It would be foolish to change all that. But, along with little thoughts of this kind, I
